Personal information in applications for employment with Council will be supplied to agencies such as the Victoria Police, where required by law (for instance, under the Working with Children Act 2005) as part of a background check. Background checks will only be carried out on applicants for selected positions prior to employment with Council. Such checks will only be carried out with your written authorisation and the results will not be disclosed to third parties unless authorised by law.

Personal information provided by you as part of a public to a Council committee meeting may be included with the published agenda papers and minutes of the meeting.

The published agenda papers and minutes are displayed on Council's website and in hardcopy at Council's Customer Service Centres and Libraries for an indefinite period.

All copies of objections sent out during the period that the application is open will have the following disclaimer noted on the objection.

(Note that the objections have been released under the provisions of the Planning and Environment Act 1978 (As Amended) and the personal information contained must only be used for the sole purpose of enabling consideration and review as part of the planning process).

Council will ensure that your personal information is not disclosed to other institutions and authorities outside Council except if required or authorised by law, for example the Fences Act 1968 or where we have your consent.

Principle 3 – Data Quality

Council must take reasonable steps to make sure that the personal information it collects uses or discloses is accurate, complete and up-to-date. You may amend any personal information you have supplied to Council. Details on how to do so are under Principle 6 – Access and Correction.

Principle 7 – Unique Identifiers

A unique identifier is a number or code that is assigned to someone's record to assist with identification (similar to a driver's licence number).

Council must not assign, adopt, use, disclose or require unique identifiers from individuals except for the course of conducting normal Council business or if required by law.

No information regarding action taken will be provided to Anonymous Complainants.
